Clinician Teacher Position in Internal Medicine at the Farm Animal Hospital
Permanent | Full time

Centre hospitalier universitaire vétérinaire (CHUV)
Faculty of Veterinary Medicine | Direction

The Faculty of Veterinary Medicine (FMV) of the Université de Montréal, located in the Education District of the city of Saint-Hyacinthe (an agri-food technopole), is currently seeking qualified candidates for a Clinician Teacher position in Internal Medicine for the Farm Animal Hospital. The selected candidate will work within the Centre hospitalier universitaire vétérinaire (CHUV) as part of a team that includes four professors, one clinician-teacher, and three residents. In addition, the selected candidate will collaborate with several specialists (anesthesiology, medical imaging, pathology, etc.) dedicated to providing the highest standard of veterinary care, and will serve as an educational resource for future veterinarians. To learn more about the FMV and discover the vibrancy of life within our academic community, visit our website.

As the only referral center of its kind in Quebec, the Farm Animal Hospital receives approximately 800 referral cases each year from veterinarians across Quebec, Ontario, and the Maritimes. It primarily treats dairy cattle, small ruminants, camelids, and wild ruminants. Equipped with modern facilities, the hospital offers a safe working environment, including a hydraulic rotating chute and a dedicated area for the treatment of non-ambulatory cows. Supporting the veterinary staff, a team of animal health technicians provides continuous care. Additionally, animal care attendants ensure the well-being of patients by managing feeding, milking, animal movement, and restraint.
